PROJECTS

Type R Tracker — Web Scraper

Built with Python, this program quickly returns listing, price and location of new/used Honda Civic Type R vehicles in the US. It then calculates and returns an average listing price. Code and visualization can be found at: <https://github.com/builtthorough/typertracker>

TTW/TTD — List Reminder

Built using Php and MySQL, this program databases beneficial and non-beneficial lessons learned as you progress in learning a new skill for “self-coaching” reference. Code and visualization can be found at: <https://github.com/builtthorough/ttwtttd>

SELF-TAUGHT

Udemy - Easy to Advanced Data Structures

2019

I am currently pursuing courses on Udemy and just received my certificate for this 8 hour course going in depth into arrays, stacks, queues, hash tables, binary search trees and many more.

How To Design Programs - Program Design Process

2016-PRESENT

Data types, data structures, recursion and, on a broader level, guidelines to transform a problem statement into program architecture. The book utilizes the Dr Racket language which emulates most scripting languages. I have written 50 small programs in that language that are tested and functional, code at: <https://github.com/builtthorough/htdp>

Khan Academy - Web Development

2015-2016

This is where it all began! I learned Front-End Web Development here: HTML, CSS, Javascript, SQL and other subjects in an interactive learning environment where you create projects that are graded for passing before you can move on. I will provide my user/login upon request for verification.
